

February is National Pet Dental Health Month

According to the AVDS (American Veterinary Dental Society), 80 percent of dogs and 70 percent of cats show signs of oral disease by age three, often indicated by bad breath, a change in eating or chewing habits, pawing at the face and mouth and depression.

Oral disease is the most frequently diagnosed health problem for pets. Twice-a-year checkups, including an oral health checkup, are important to ensure your pet is not in pain and is not suffering from serious oral health problems. Besides causing receding gums and tooth loss, bacteria in the mouth can enter the bloodstream, potentially infecting the heart, liver and kidneys, which can be potentially life threatening.

Along with twice-a-year checkups, our professional ultrasonic scaling and cleaning is an excellent preventative measure to keep your pets oral health in check.

Sign your pet(s) up for our professional ultrasonic scaling and cleaning service between now and March 11th. and receive a

FREE bottle of Biotene Drinking Water Additive (a $25.00 Value!)

Biotene veterinarian is a concentrated, enzymatic drinking water additive for daily oral protection and maintenance. It contains the lactoperoxidase enzyme system, lysozyme, lactoferrin, and a newly patented mutanase plus dextranase enzyme system for plaque removal. This flavorless concentrate is added to drinking water to provide the safest, healthiest way to conveniently keep pets' teeth clean without brushing.
